

What Causes Road Rage?

---

Chances are, the out-of-control driver was already angry or emotionally upset before getting behind the wheel.

These are the events most likely to trigger road rage:

- Tailgating
- Cutting someone off
- Driving too slowly
- Blocking a lane
- "Stealing" a parking space

Drive carefully! The life you save could be your own.

Don't Be a Target!

Drive carefully and courteously...

- Don't cruise in a passing lane at or below the speed limit.
- Remember that a slow driver may be as much of a hazard as a speeder.
- Go with the flow of traffic.
- Don't tailgate!
- Use your rear- and side-view mirrors.
- Remember to signal!
- Never pull out to pass without a clear view of an unobstructed lane ahead.
- Know where you're going—check your map before you start out.
- Drive defensively—always be on the lookout for a safe spot to "bail out."

CAREFUL DRIVING HABITS WILL HELP KEEP YOU SAFE—IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE!
